

Introducing

David “Emerald” Womeldorff

(pronounced: Waum-ul-dorff)

David “Emerald” Womeldorff brings nearly 30 years of experience in organizational communication, leadership training and fostering collaboration to his public speaking & seminar facilitation. He is widely regarded for his gift of “translating important ideas in a way that others find practical and useful.” As a facilitator and speaker, David is an advocate for creating a vision-focused and passion-based way of being in one’s personal, professional and organizational life.

He is co-founder of The Bainbridge Leadership Center, located on Bainbridge Island near Seattle, Washington. The Center provides consulting, coaching, and educational services in the areas of public, organizational, and personal leadership development. David leads the Center’s organizational and personal leadership practice areas.

David spent nearly 10 years associated with Bank One in the Midwest, where he led their Learning and Leadership Development efforts and was Acting Director of Executive Education. He currently serves as an executive coach for the University of Notre Dame’s executive education and executive MBA programs.

David is also the author of *The Power of TED** (**The Empowerment Dynamic*), a fable focused on self-leadership.

Please welcome David “Emerald” Womeldorff.